To whom it may concern:

I am writing this letter on behalf of Mr. Chris Pizzuto. For the last ten years I have had the pleasure of working with Chris on a number of very important projects. Following Hurricane Katrina, Chris was an important member of our rebuilding team. Our library system was devastated by the storm and four of our buildings were completely destroyed.

As we rebuilt the library facilities, Chris was instrumental in helping us design the interiors. His expertise proved invaluable when it came to planning furniture layouts and acquiring the items we needed.

As a result of my personnel experience working with Chris, I would unequivocally recommend him for any sales position that required someone who consistently displays well-oriented professional knowledge and the ability to work with people.
